ment in another column.

The Westminster Society of Young People held a picnic in Ward's woods last Saturday afternoon. The attractions were a dinner, croquet, swimming, and numerous other games. The day was very warm, making the woods a delightful place.

The fire alarm bell will be rung at sunrise and sunset on the 4th of July, for a double purpose, to assist in celebrating the day and to give the bell a thorough trial before payment is made for it. At no other time will the bell be rung except for fire alarm purposes.

Mr. William Cotter, formerly of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has opened a photograph gallery in the Cadmus building, corner of Bloomfield avenue and Washington street.
A good photographer is needed in our town, and from samples of work which we have seen we should say he is the right man.

On Saturday afternoon the Athletics of Bloomfield played the Little Falls club at Watessing. The score stood 10 to 13 in favor of the home club. This P. M. they play with the Rectors of Newark in that city. A return game will be played with the Springfield club on July 4th at Millburn.

Monday evening the Baptist Literary Society held their regular meeting and produced a very agreeable programme, the principal feature of which was the music.
Martin Brothers sang in a highly commendable manner. Miss Edwards edited and read the Society paper in a praiseworthy manner. This is the last meeting of the summer session.

Meeting of the Republican Club.

Between fifty and sixty leading Republicans of Bloomfield met in Upper Library Hall Monday evening to discuss the situation. The result was a most agreeable surprise. Instead of division and dissatisfaction as it was feared there would be by some, there was a most feeling prevailed.
There were some who admitted they were disappointed but when Mr. Bovee's resolution to rally the platform and the candidates of the Chicago convention came up but one vote was cast against it. If any of our Democratic neighbors are looking for a Republican bolt in this place they will keep on looking.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock by President Cook. He said there were those, himself among the number, who had been disturbed by the stories against the candidates but, while he had searched diligently and he believed, conscientiously to all the papers he had found no proof. He had read however an editorial in the New York Herald which it reflected the views of the opposition would cause him to vote the Republican ticket in spite of all the things charged against Mr. Blaine even were they all true. This editorial concluded after much abusive language by saying it would be better to vote the Republican party out now than drive it out with rifle and bayonet hereafter. Such outrageous treasonable sentiments should be overwhelmingly voted down. The reading of this editorial was then unanimously called for by the meeting. The substance of it was that the Republican party was kept in power by a union of the "corrupt element" with the "rowdy element" and that it must be ousted by arms if necessary as the Democratic party was. If the Herald articles produce the same effect on all doubtful Republicans as this one produced on those at the meeting we are prepared to believe it has been subsidized by the Republican campaign committee. Mr. W. P.
Lyon was intensely disgusted to think that the meeting should waste its time on an article which had a lie in every five lines, but the meeting agreed with the President that the time was well spent.

Mr. Bovee then offered the following resolutions:—

WHEREAS the Republican party by its regularly appointed delegates in the National Convention held at Chicago, have nominated for President of the United States JAMES G. BLAINE, and for Vice President JOHN A. LOGAN; and

WHEREAS an overwhelming majority of said Delegates representing the entire Republican party throughout the United States, without any fraud or corrupt practice, or machine influence, freely and voluntarily cast their votes for said candidates at said convention; and

WHEREAS that party in said convention has pledged itself to principles dear to every true Republican heart, and allied to the best interest of the whole country;

Resolved: That, we, the Republican Club of the Town of Bloomfield, do ratify and endorse said platform, and pledge ourselves to support the nominees of said convention and to secure by every honorable means in our power the election for President of the United States of JAMES G. BLAINE, of Maine, and for Vice President JOHN A. LOGAN, of Illinois.

After the reading of these resolutions the meeting was opened open for remarks and Mr. Cook invited a free expression of opinion on both sides of the question. Ten minutes were allowed each speaker. After a moment's silence Mr. Smith rose and said he was disappointed in the nomination but was not at all sure he should bolt it. He wished to look into the matter. He had come to the meeting in the expectation of receiving light. As for the platform he objected to the Anti-Chinese plank. He had an idea however that candidates platform and all, were much better than anything he was likely to get from the Democrats.

Mr. Olmstead followed by saying that he had been a Blaine man from the start. He was the ablest man in the country and deserved to be President. As for the Chinese Mr. Smith might like them but he wanted none of them.

Mr. G. T. Moore said the Democratic party was a free trade party. He had seen the evils of free trade tendencies after the election of Polk and wanted no more. The opponents of Mr. Blaine whatever they might be on the surface were free traders at heart. He was reading extracts when his time expired. So great enthusiasm had his remarks created that more time was unanimously granted him. He quoted from the Pall Mall Gazette on Mr. Blaine's American-ism and Dr. Armitage's pungent terse and unanswerable letter about Mr. Curtis' action in the convention. Mr. Moore has often spoken in Bloomfield but never in our hearing with such admirable effect.

Mr. Handy suggested the possibility of the Chicago Convention being packed but declared himself satisfied with the result and prepared to work for the ticket.

Mr. Bovee disposed of the question of packing the convention in a most logical manner. His charge was short, sharp and decisive. He then turned his attention to the charges against Mr. Blaine and showed in a clear and forcible manner that charges and insinuations were not enough. We must have proof—proof not of innocence but of guilt. The basis of law and society is that a man is innocent till he is proved guilty.

Dr. Richards, Mr. Charles Davis, Mr.
Weeks, Mr. Faldson, Mr. Lyon and others spoke and declared their intention of supporting the party. After some general discussion of business matters the club adjourned.

Mr. Reford declared that the Republicans would gain three votes from Democrats for every one lost from Independents and gave the proofs from his own observation. He was very glad the Times had gone where it belonged. It had been the curse of the party it pretended to support.

Miss Northall's School.

The closing exercises of Miss Northall's School took place at the "Old Parsonage" on Friday, June 20th, about eighty ladies and gentlemen being present.

The rooms were prettily dressed with flowers and evergreens, and the walls of one room were partly covered with specimens of the pupils' handwriting, embroidery, drawn work and sewing of the older girls; drawing, weaving and picked work done by the little ones of the kindergarten.

During the first part of the afternoon the kindergarten gave an exhibition of the plays and songs so dear to every child who has ever taken part in them. And the children showed themselves not only carefully trained pupils but ready ones also.

Among the prettiest songs and games were "The Farmer," "The Shoemaker," "The Silent Game," "Busy Children," and "Baby is a Sailor Boy." In the last mentioned the measure of the music follows the motion of an imaginary cradle, and the very spirit of soothing seemed to fill the voices of the little ones as they sang:

"Shoo shoo and precious freight, Swing, cradle, swing,
Baby's captain, Mamma's mate,
Swing, cradle, swing,
Little eyelids downward creep,
Sleep, baby, sleep,
Now he's in the Cove of Sleep,
Sleep, baby, sleep."

During the intermission the audience was entertained with a well executed piano solo by Miss Marion L. Beach.

The operetta, "The Land of Nod," was entirely satisfactory, the parts being well performed and the dresses exceedingly pretty. As the programme shows, the larger pupils as well as the little tots of the school engaged in this, and from the Queen on her throne to the little sleepy-heads on their couches, all did well.

Coming Fourth of July.

All the indications point to a more general celebration of the approaching anniversary of the Fourth of July than we have seen since the Centennial Display. In order to meet the demand which is sure to be made for FIREWORKS, H. B.
THISTLE (successor to Ingalls & Co.), 761 Broad st., has purchased, and now offers at Wholesale and Retail, an immense stock of such goods as will prove the MOST SATISFACTORY TO THE CONSUMERS of any kind in the market. A speciality is made of ALL COLORED FIREWORKS, and those who have once tried them, will have no other. Being the Agent of the manufacturers, enables us to offer to Dealers great advantages, not only in price, but in the free and prompt delivery of all purchases. Our stock is all new and in first-class condition, and embraces everything in the line of Fourth of July supplies that is offered in the market. Do not give your orders until you
